THE NAVY ON THE MISSISSIPPL.-A writer in the Cincinnnti Commercial states that the United States naval squadron of the Mississippi river consists of eighty-six vessels, of all descriptions, in commission, with a complement of over sixteen hundred officers and forty thousand effective men. Many of these vessels are of the most formidable class and heavily armed. The vessels of this squadron are divided into several classes-the ironclads, the tin-clads, despatch vessels, and auxiliary vessels. The iron-clads, which are the most effective class, are thirteen in number. Added to these is a new iron-clad just launched at St. Louis, and the Indianula, which will soon be got off and repaired. Five more are in process of construction, two of which will be launched at Cincinnati in the spring, thus making the total number of iron-clads nineteen. The tiu-clads, another class of vessels, so named because they are not so heavily plated, are also a very effective class of steamers. The number of these so-called tin-elads in the Mississippi, Tennessee, Cumbered, and White rivers is thirty-three. of these are stern-wheel boats altered to guobouts, only a few being side-wheel. There, are three despatch vessels and seven auxiliary vessels employed for carrying the muils, the conveyance of stores and passengers, and as hospital ships. The "ram floot," as it is called, consists of five or six vessels. The whole number of vessels of this river flect, in commission and building, amounts to one hundred and one. Most of the officers of the Mississippi guadron are acting volunteer as to the results that may follow if the powers the Mississippi equadron are acting volunteer

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1863.

Dr. Rucker, of West Virginia, who was taken prisoner at the surrender of Summerville, Nicholas county, Virginia, in July of last year, and escaped from the rebel peniten- SABLE tiary in Pittsylvania, asserts that tho starvation of Union prisoners does not arise, as alleged by the rebels, from a scarcity of food in the Confederacy. He says there was produced this year about half a crop of wheat, three-fourths of a corn crop, and one-third the usual supply of pork; but even if this is correct, it does not, in our opinion, prove the correctness of Dr. Rucker's theory. He had not heen in Richmond since last June, and was not aware of the distress which existed there, while in his imprisonment he may have fared better than those at Libby or Castle Thunder. Every refugee from Virginia tells the same story of destitution and starvation, and, although the rebels have shown themselves devoid of all the chivalric impulses of trne eoldiers, we cannot believe that they have become so fiendish as to per- At Lower Prices than they can be mit their prisoners to starve. A decent sense of respect for the opinions of the civilized world would have spared them, if possible, the mortification of permitting our Government to send supplies to the captives in Richmond. The necessity which compelled them to accept our proffer must have been great, and at the same time shows that they have awakened from their delusive dreams of foreign intervention and aid. A power which is unable to feed its prisoners of war, and, to prevent them from starving, is compelled to receive aid from its enemy, can hardly expect any other nation to recognize it at the risk of war. There is no possible reason for thinking that the rebels have resorted to the infamy of starving their captives, however scanty their supply of provisions has become. It is poverty and not inclination which has brought them to this pass, and it is rejuted that they are sending the prisoners away from Richmond to interior placees where the presence of large armies has not exheusted the store of provisions. Dr. Rucker's estimate of the Southern crop of this year msy be correct, but still it would not supply the necessities of the Confederate armies, for war is wasteful, and the food which would supply a city of one hundred thousand inhabitants abundantly would not suffice for an army of one quarter that number. Exhaustion of resources is the true secret of tho conduct of the rebela toward our unfortunate soldiers who are prisoners of war in their hands. The protection of our commerce from the rebel privateers deserves the best consideration of the national authorities; and wo nre glad that the subject has been brought to respect. The continued depredations of the rebel privatcers on our mercantile marine is the subject of a memorial to the Secretary of the Navy, signed by a number of the most eminent insurance, shipping, banking, and business firms of New York. The rebel cruis, ers have not only destroyed a large amount of the active capital of the merchants, but seriously threaten the very existence of the merchant marine itself. Aside from the learning of new and alegant designs at the lowest rates. the active capital of the merchants, but serichant marine itself. Aside from the loss o individual wealth and the destruction of so rainable a source of material power, it is very miliating that a few cruisers, and those no first class vessels, should be gradually, and almost with impunity, annihilating our commerce. It is mortifying to our pride that the great highways of our commerce have hitherto heen left so unprotected by the absence of national armed vessels. The rebels have attacked our flag at the very entrances of our harbors. men at the Cape of Good Hope, not only delaying the transmission of valuable cargoes but endangering vessels and cargoes. Perhaps it is no easy task to capture these cruisers, aided as they often are at ports where interna-tional comity, if not international law, have been set at defiance. The memorial claims that the loyal merchants and shipowners of the country form the liberality with which the country, from tha liberality with which they have sustained the administration, should be entitled to a more energetic protection of their interests than they have heretofore had In 1800 two-thirds of our carrying trade was in American bottoms, and but one-third in | g.a foreign vessels, but now two-thirds of it is in foreign vessels and but one-third in our own. A very large number of American ships have been sold, for safety, during the past year to foreign purchasers, and these very purchasers are reaping the profits of our carrying trade, and charging us increased rates for doing it.

By heing obliged to sell our vessels we are to the present at Snod'y, Gwynn, & Co's choe Sto's, d'l Main street. By heing obliged to sell our vessels we are building up valuable merchant marines for powers which heretofore possessed nothing worthy the name, and we are doing this on the very destruction of our own. This trans- PIAN fer of our tonnage and shipping interest to For which we will pay the highest market rates foreign flags is not an indication of want of enterprise in this field of occupation, but ut A want of confidence in the national protection of our flag on the ocean. Our shipowners have been subject to heavy sacrifices in differenco of insurance against capture of two to ten per cent. There should be an efficient naval force in the great highways of commerce, and armed vessels on prominent naval stations for the protection of our ships. Underwriters no longer speculate upon the chances of the capture of these rebel cruisers, but calculate only on the chances of escape of our merchantmen, or the possible destruction of the piratical craft from unseaworthiness, or the mutiny of their crews. With a navy of five or six hundred vessels of war, we have been defied by five or six rebel cruisers, till practically our commerco is nearly deetroyed, and neutral ship owners are reaping the profits of these rebel depredations. The efficiency of these rehel cruisers has been marvellous, and the nmount of destruction they have effected seems fahuous. Had our naval authorities exhibited efficiency in any direction except in letting contracts and increasing the number of our Arein dally receipt of new and chalce exples af war vessels, we should not have been subject to the humiliation which the activity of the few rebel vessels have brought upon us. The Alabama has long heen n nightmare to Secretary Welles. She, on the one hand, destroys millions about as fast as Welles, on the other hand, sinks millions in huilding new vessels. The works of his ship-building genius and the decay of our commerce are ubjects which we hope will he hrought forward early for Congressionnl investigation. Secretary Welles, in his reply to the memorial of the merchants, says he has constantly had in view the pursuit and capture of the rebel privatuere, and that when the little rebel Tacony had the impudence to uttack our HEAVY SHEETINGS-20 bales Pittsbarg brands flag at the entrance of our harhor, she was pursued by "thirty vessels," and "her career soon terminated." 1. Edwin Hartzel, of Francenia, Montgomery coun ty, Penn., have been deaf for many years. Three years ago my constitution began to give way. My eyes became dim, so that I could not see an object while the blisters were on, but when I ceased to bliste I got much worse then I was when I began. My has lng of the great cures performed by Mrs. M. G. Brown I thought I would try her Melaphysical Discovery On the 17th of September I recurred it, and now, after using it to this, the 18th day of October, the results are as follows: I have rec vered my hearing. My oyesi ht, which was so bad, has become clear and strong. My eyes, which were deeply snuken in my head, are was very foor, has now become sharp and keen. I now enjoy my food, which I did not do before. The pain has entirely gone from my head. I have regained my color, and follentirely renovated, and like a new many, My cheeks are getting full and clear, which was not

State of Affairs About Knoxville.

Gen. Sherman Sent to Bernsid's Aid. Meade's Removal Again Rumored.

TAMEWELL, Nov. 30: The following information has h en received by Geu. Wilcox from Gen. Burnside, dated Knoxviile, Nov. 39: About 11 P. M. on the evening of the 28.5

irst., the enemy male an attempt in force on our skirmishing line to the right of the Klugston road, and forced it back some distance in front of Fort Sanders, the work commanding that road. We afterwards regained a por-

Fort Sanders. In spife of our heavy fire, a portion of two brigades succeeded in gaining the ditch, but were unable to accend the parapets. We swept the ditch with much slaughter. About three hundred men and three stands of colors were taken. Their loss in killed and wounded amounted to five hnndred or more. Our entire loss was about

The wounded of the enemy were crying for assistance, when Gen. Burnside sent a flag of tiuce offering the enemy an opportunity for earing for the wounded. Gen. Longstreet accepted the offer and a cestation of hostilities was agreed upon. The wounded men were exchanged for those of curs wounded in previous engagements, and their dead sent through our lines. Col. Ru.s, commanding the assaulting party, was killed. Col. McElvoy and Lieut.-Col. Thomas were also among the

A simultaneous assault was made upon the right of our line on the other side of the river, but in this attack the rebels were final'y driven back. Our loss on that side was about forty; that of the enemy is said to be much grenter. Our supplies are ample for the present. The enemy has been reinforced by one or two divisions of Bushron Johnson's. H.

Washington, Dec. 3.
The Secretary of War has given his decision to the Hon. B. French, the Second Auli-tor of the Treasnry of the United States, in cases recently submitted by Messrs. Joseph B. Dewitt & Co., of Philadelphia, that, as the nine months' volunteers of the several States, who were called ont on the 17th of July and on the 1st of October, 1862, were not authorized or accepted by the War Department, therefore they are not entitled to the $25 bounty and the $2 premium. The amount involved in this question is several millions of dollars, and, as the various phymasters I roughout the country have paid many of he regiments from Pennsylvania, New Yer er, Rhode Island, and other Sates, they are collerly instructed. The several State mit tary departments are also involved as well are the content of t
